Swinburne University of Technology

Faculty of Science, Engineering and Technology

COS30020

Advanced Web Development

Assignment 1

Job Vacancy Posting System

Academic Year: 2023-2026

Task 1: Home Page

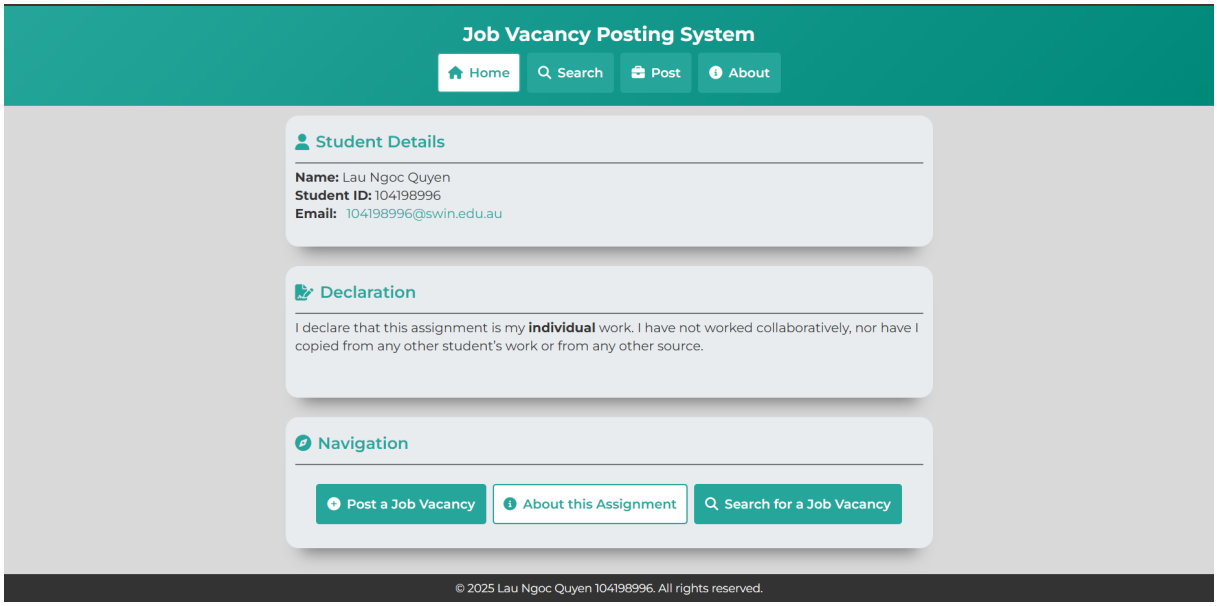

Figure 1: Home Page

Task 2: Post Job Page

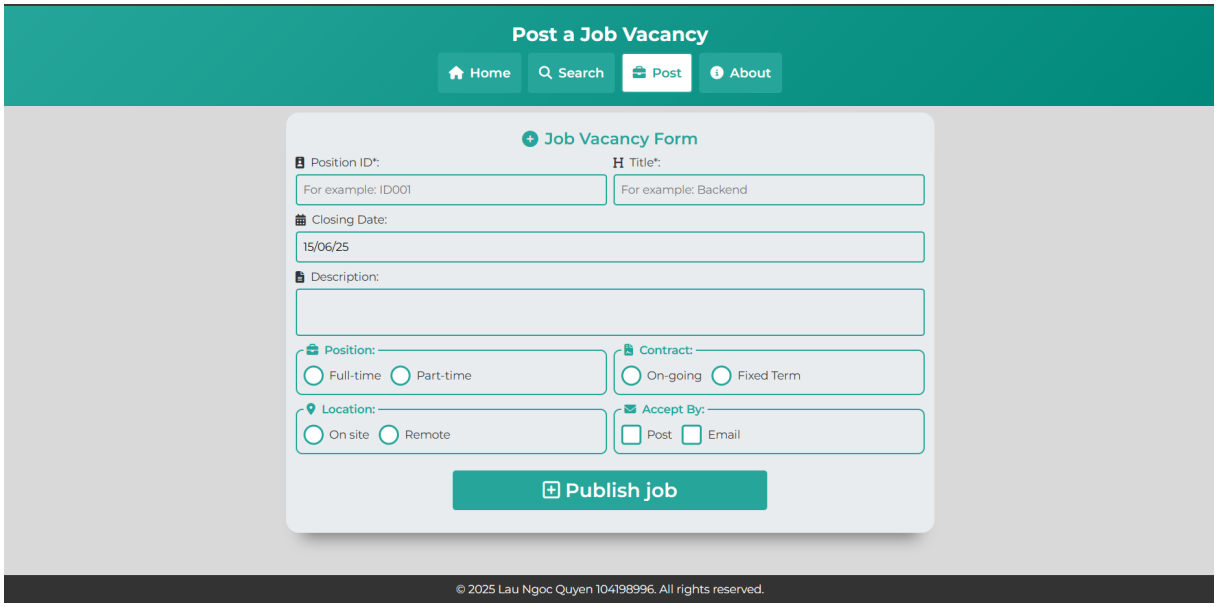

Figure 2: Post Job Page

Task 3: Process Post Job Page

Request 1:

Request 1a:

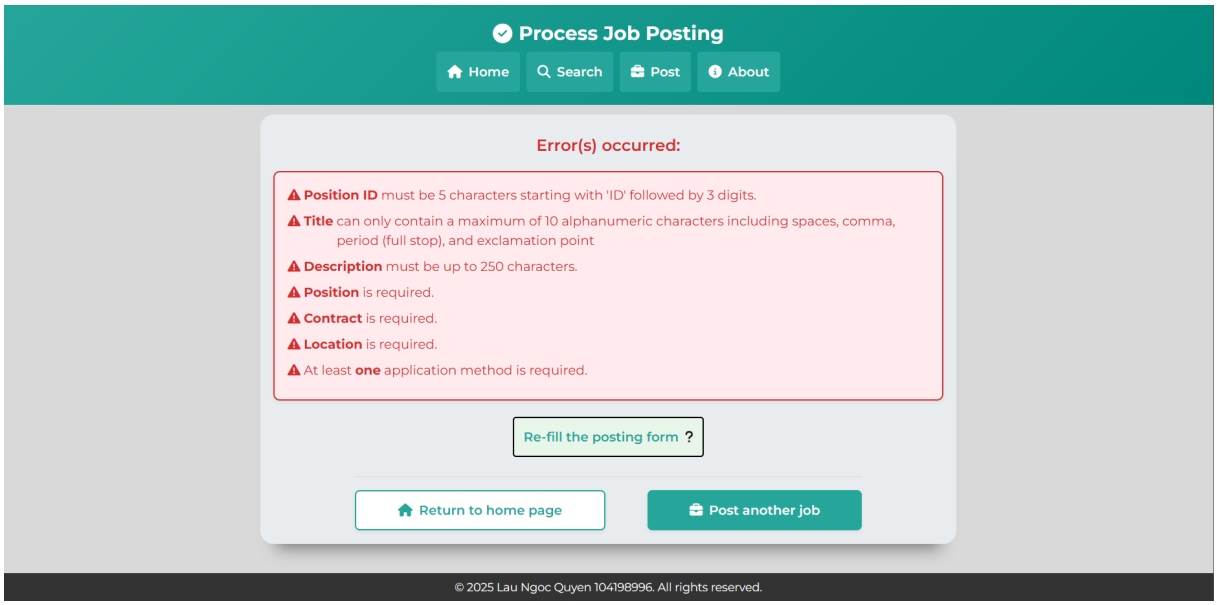

Figure 3: Error Messages and Links to Return to Home Page And Post Job vacancy

Request 1b:

Figure 4: Date validated by the dd/mm/yy format

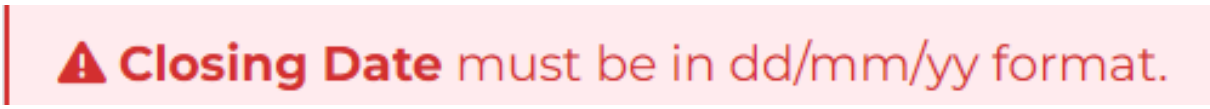

Figure 5: Date error message

Request 1c:

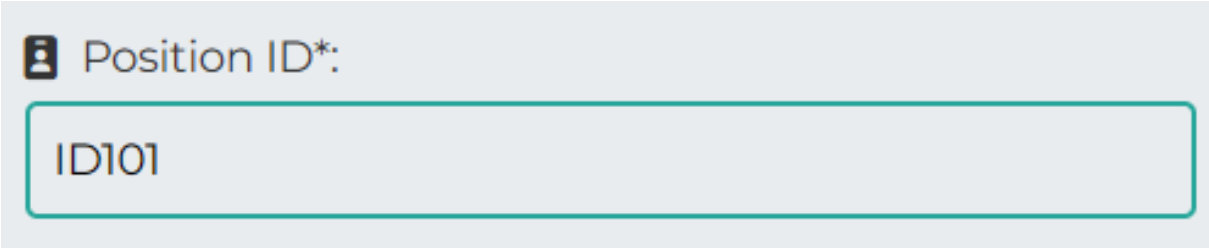

Figure 6: Typing the already existing ID in the text file

Figure 7: Display error message when ID is already exists in the text file

Request 2:

```
// Create directory and file if they don't exist
if (!file_exists($data_dir)) {
    mkdir($data_dir, 0755, true);
}
if (!is_file($file_path)) {
    file_put_contents($file_path, '');
}
```

Figure 8: Automatically handling if the directory or file in the Mercury server does not exist, systematically creating one

Request 3:

```php
// Prepare data for saving
$record = implode("\t", [
    $position_id,
    $title,
    $description,
    $closing_date,
    $position,
    $contract,
    $location,
    $application_method
]) . "\n";
```

Figure 9: Each record saved in a new line, each field in a record separated by a tab

Request 4:

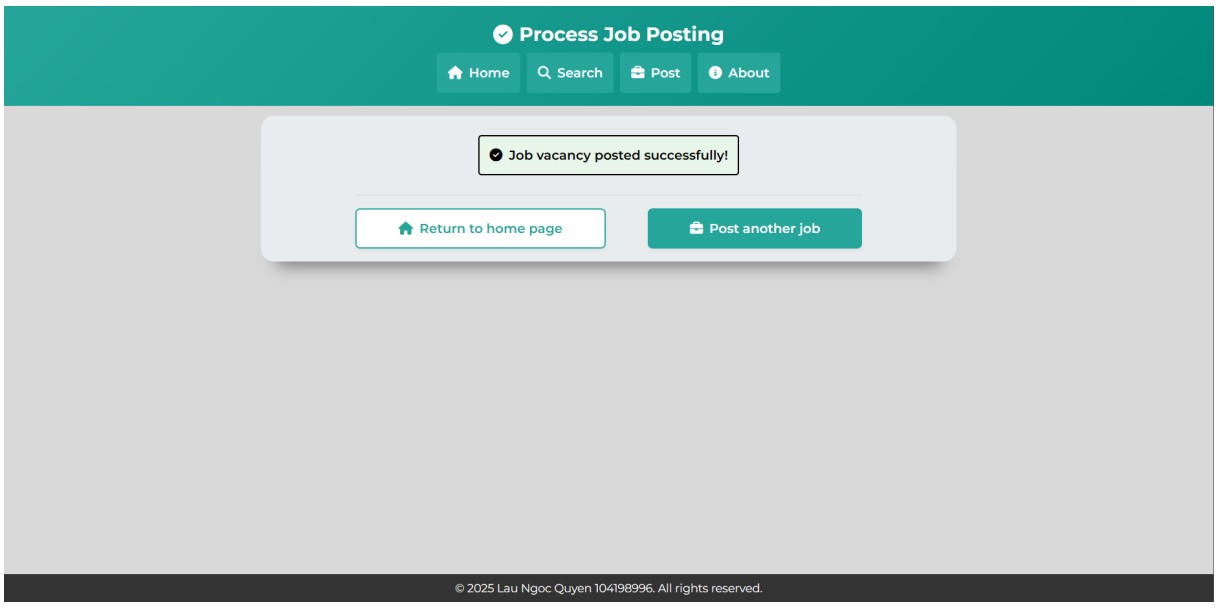

Figure 10: Confirmation after successfully inserting a new job record into the txt file

Task 4: Search Job Vacancy Page

Request 1:

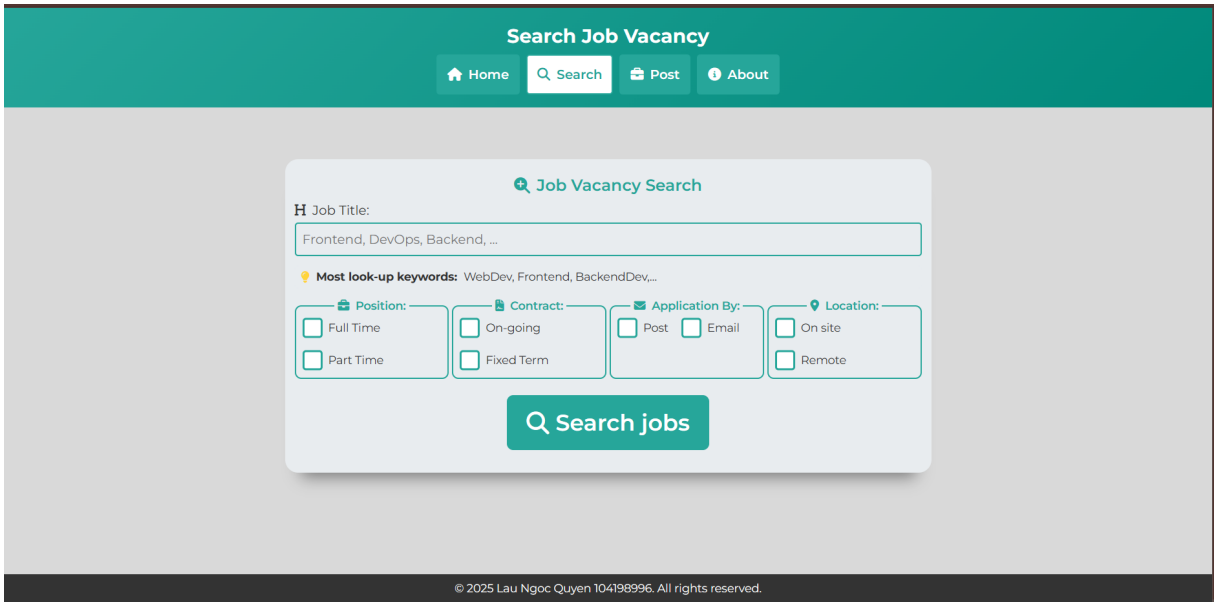

Figure 11: The search job form contains an input text field for searching by title

Request 2:

```
<section class="card">
  <h2 style="justify-content: center;"> Job Vacancy Search</h2>
  <form action="searchjobprocess.php" method="GET" class="form-grid">

      <label for="title"> Job Title:</label>
      <input type="text" id="title" name="title" placeholder="Frontend, DevOps, Backend, ...">

```

Figure 12: Using GET Method to search for a job

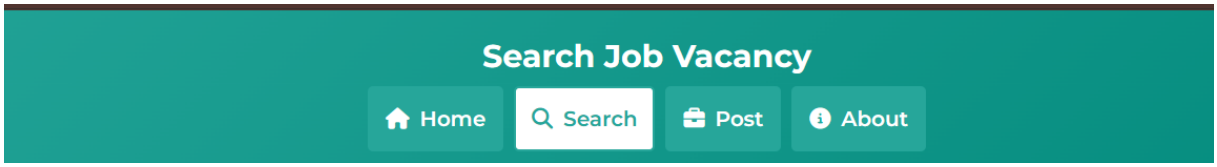

Figure 13: Links provided to return home, or even navigate across the webpage

Task 5: Search Job Vacancy Page

Request 1 and 4:

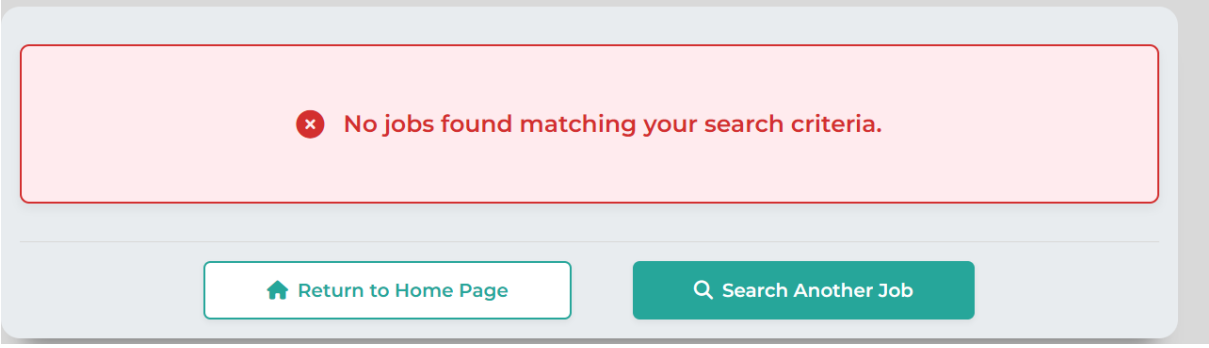

Figure 14: Error message shown after the input string for title not found in the txt file, the ”return to home” and ”search another job” buttons provided

Request 2 and 3:

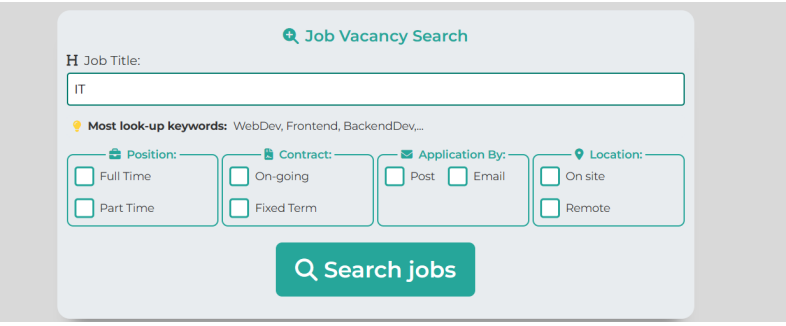

Figure 15: All the job records are searched. For example, ”IT” will also match with ”Senior IT”

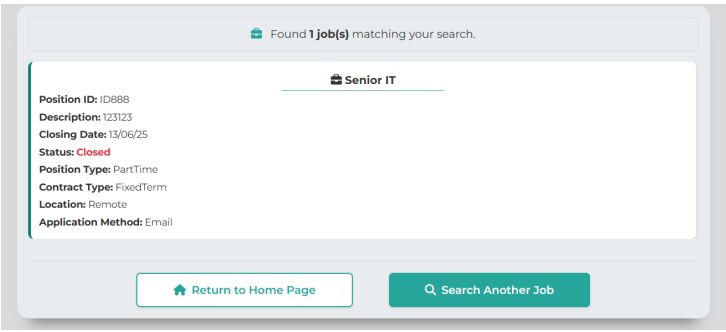

Figure 16: Display all the information about the job records within the matched job records

Task 6: About Page

Request 1, 2, and 3:

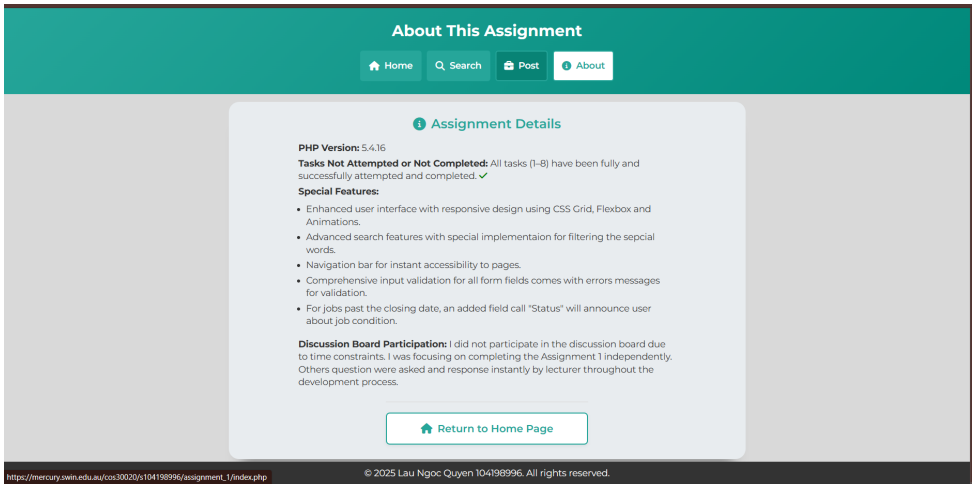

Figure 17: Answer all the questions in a bullet point

Task 7: Advanced Search Job Vacancy Page

Request 1:

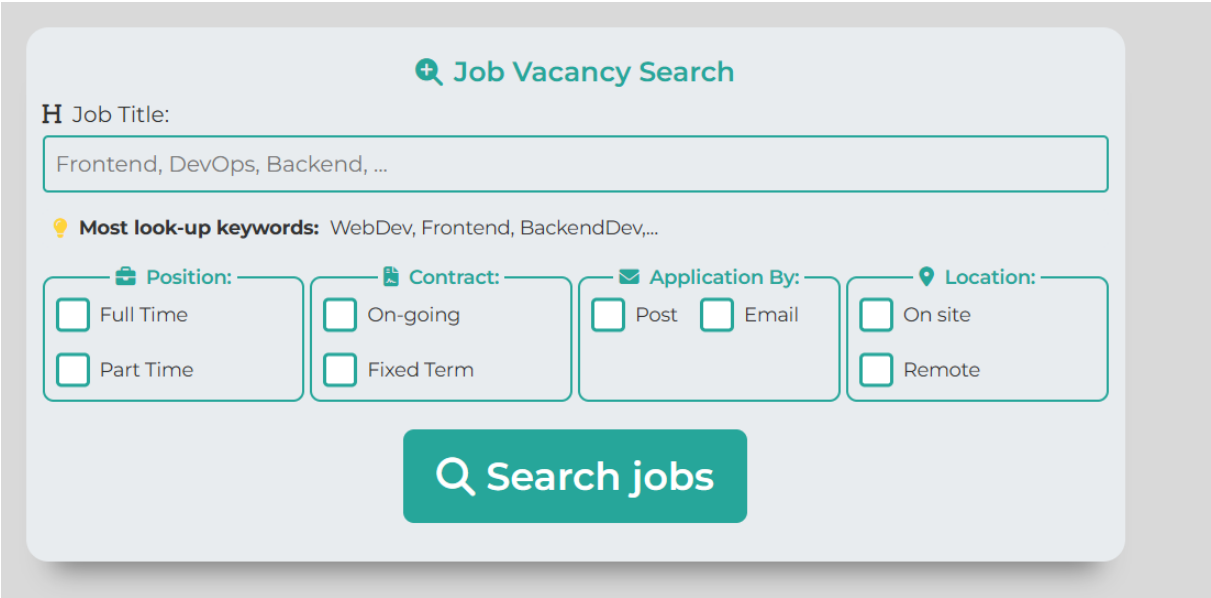

Figure 18: Diverse criteria like job title, position, contract, application type, and location added to support additional search criteria

Request 2:

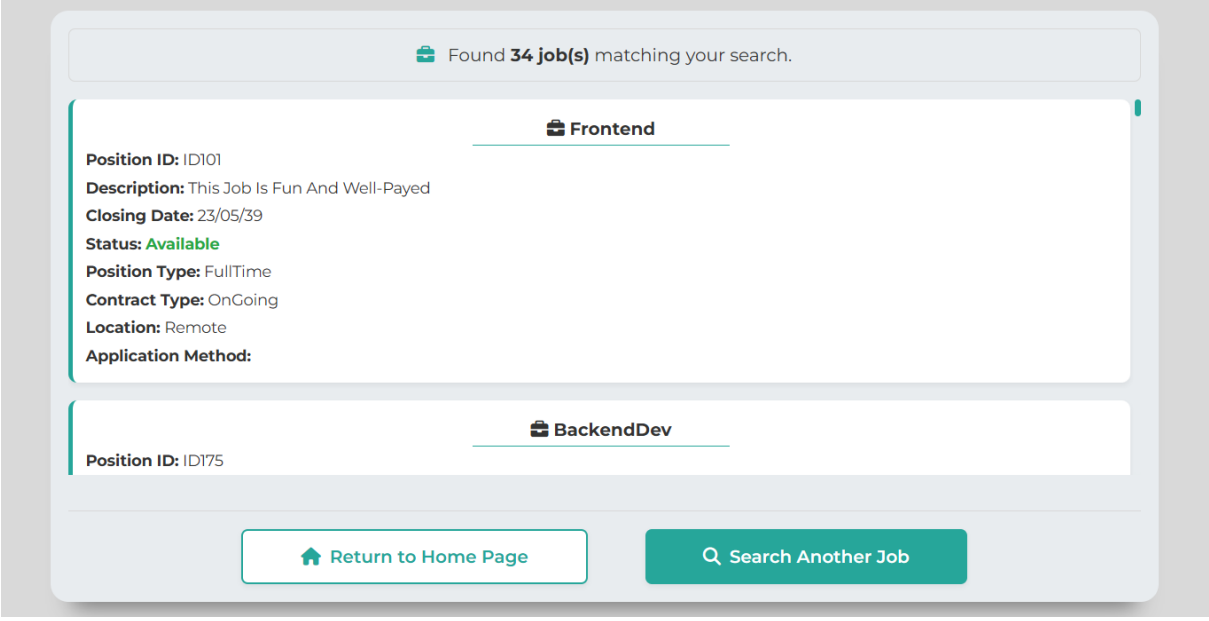

Figure 19: If there's no criteria, all job records display

Task 8: Order and Display Job Vacancy Result Page

Request 1:

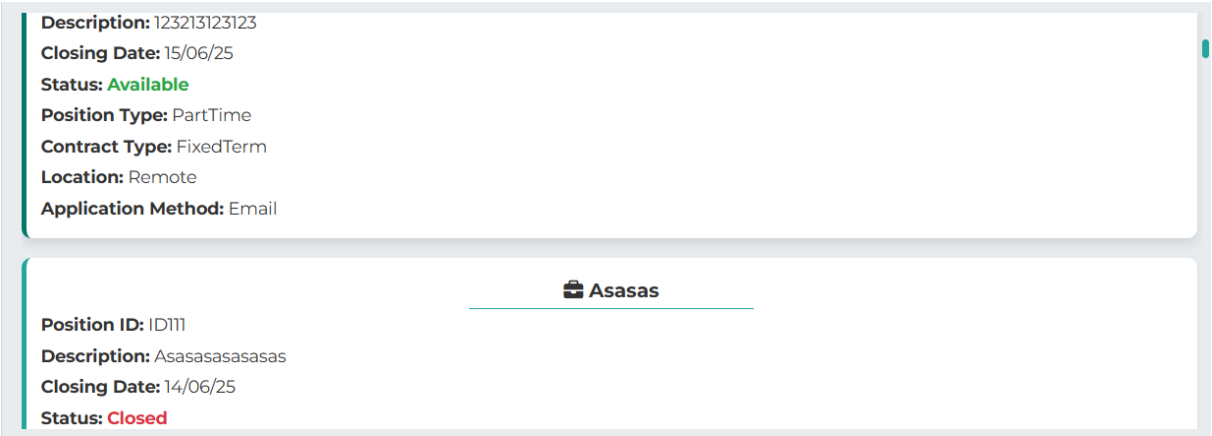

Figure 20: Job record sorted from the most future closing date until today's date